

One, Two, skip a few Ninety-nine, one hundred!

Introduction

Start with a game. It could be "How green you are" where an object is hidden while one member of the group leaves the room or hides their eyes. The group indicates how close or far away the finder is to the object by singing the words, "how green you are", louder or softer. It is a version of hunt the thimble and fits the hide and seek theme. (In the version I know, the words "How green you are" are sung to the tune of Auld Lang Syne)

Another possible "hide and seek" style of game is to choose one child and ask the rest to look at him / her for a moment. The child then makes a minor change to his / her appearance; undoes a button or pulls up sleeves etc. The others try to observe and guess the change made.

Playing game together is always fun. There are so many games to play, some old and some new.

What is your favourite game? (Discussion)

Has anyone ever made up a game. Tell us how to play it.

Do you like playing Hide and Seek?

Have you ever found a really, really good place to hide where nobody could find you. The trouble is that if you hide that well, the game gets boring.

But of, course a game of Hide and Seek might be exciting, especially if something unusual or unexpected happened

One, Two, skip a few Ninety-nine, one hundred!

Do you like to play hide and seek?
Have you ever found a really good place to hide where nobody could find you?

Story idea 1

A game of hide and seek might be the start of a good story?

- Where were you playing?
- Who were you with?
- Who hid first?
- Were you all enjoying the game?
- What happened?

Some ideas

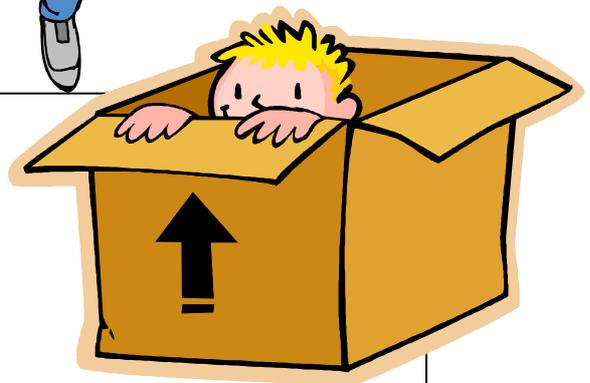

- Someone might disappear
- You might find something or someone unexpected.
- You might discover a secret.
- You might find treasure or

Have you got a favourite game?

Is there a game you like playing with your friends at school?

What about at a party?

How could you describe your favourite game to somebody who had never played it before?

Story idea 2

Invent a new game

Who can play?

What are the rules?

What do you need to play this game?

Where do you need to play it?

How do you win?

What is the game called?

Now make up a story about your new game

One, Two, skip a few
Ninety-nine, one hundred!

Author _____

Scribe _____